LIQUOR GOES INTO GUTTER

SHERIFF DESTROYS 25 GALLONS SEIZED IN RAIDS.

EQUIPMENT AUCTIONED

Jesting Crowd Bids on Bottles, Jugs, Kegs, Oil Stoves and 300 Pounds of Sugar.

While a crowd of spectators applauded, Sheriff Lowell B. Campbell and his deputies this morning emptied into Main street the contents of a miscellaneous collection of bottles, jars and jugs, seized in liquor raids in the county.

The sheriff estimated that the containers held twenty-five gallons of more or less precious liquid. Practically all of it was of the home-made variety and much was "white mule."

The liquor was destroyed under a court order issued by Judge John M. Dawson at the request of Sheriff Campbell, who declared that the bottles and jugs were taking up all the room in his vault. They were of no more use as evidence, the offenders already having been tried and in most cases convicted.

As the contents of bottle after bottle splashed into the street and trickled down the gutter, an enthusiastic crowd quickly gathered. They laughed and joked. They inspected the bottles and held them to their noses with beatific expressions. They bent over the gurgling stream and sniffed the alcoholic aroma. Not a tear was shed.

This afternoon Sheriff Campbell, proceeding under the same ourt order, held an auction sale of the empty bottles and jugs and of other equipment confiscated in liquor raids. The bidding was slow and accompanied by many side comments, and the total proceeds amounted to only $19.25, which, after expenses are deducted, is placed in the school fund.

Among the articles sold were three 100-pound sacks of sugar, solidified by long storage, seven stone jugs of various sizes, eight glass jugs, three kegs, two oil stoves formerly used to heat mash, and something more than one hundred empty bottles.

The larger of the jugs brought 50 cents each. One of the stoves was sold for $1.50 and the other for $1. There was little competition for the bottles and other smaller containers, and they went in batches at 25 cents. The sugar, despite its resemblance to rock, brought $4.25 a sack, Lafe Stamper of this city buying all three.

Seven stills were not included in the sale. They already had been wrecked and consigned to the junk pile. The sheriff also retained a quantity of liquor held as evidence in cases still pending.

The liquor destroyed today had accumulated during the last six months.

Another Big Day for Issuing Car Licenses

165 Sets Of Plates Sold At Chamber Of Commerce Office Yesterday.—Total Sales Now 1,180.

One hundred and sixty-five 1926 automobile licenses were issued at the Maryville Chamber of Commerce office yesterday. This is two more than were issued Monday. Only twenty-five licenses were sold to Maryville owners yesterday. Eleven hundred and eighty licenses have been sold in the eight days the plates have been on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Mrs. F. T. Loch of Ravenwood purchased twelve sets of license plates.

The morning continues to be the idle time with the rush during two or three hours in the early part of the afternoon.

Of all of the persons applying for automobile licenses thus far, only one has been unable to sign his name, showing the literacy in this section of Missouri very high.

COUNTY'S NET GAIN IS 225

BIRTHS FOR YEAR TOTAL 541 AS AGAINST 316 DEATHS.

FEW DIE AT GRAHAM

Grim Reaper There Only Six Times—Outside Maryville, Conception Junction Has Most Births.

Nodaway County's fourteen registrars of vital statistics reported 541 births as against 316 deaths in the last year, according to information received in the office of County Clerk Fred Smith from the State Board of Health.

Maryville, of course, reported the largest number both of births and deaths and made the largest net gain in population. Dr. C. P. Fryer, local registrar, listed 115 deaths and 172 births, a preponderance of 57 in favor of the stork.

Graham has the distinction of having had the fewest deaths among the smaller towns. There Dr. M. M. Rhoades reported only six deaths and twenty-nine births.

The largest net gain in population among the smaller towns was made by Conception Junction, where there were fifty-two births and only twelve deaths, according to the report of Mrs. Mabel M. Graham.

Parnell made a net gain of twenty-one in its population. There Dr. Hiram Day reported twelve deaths and thirty-three births. Barnard also made a good showing, with twenty-three deaths and forty-three births reported by Dr. Charles D. Humberd.

Elmo was the only town in the county where fewer births were reported than there were deaths. Dr. R. E. Ferguson, registrar there, recorded but eleven visits of the long-legged bird and forty of the grim reaper.

At Burlington Junction, Dr. C. E. Cossins reported seventeen deaths and thirty-five births.

Clearmont, where Dr. W. H. Wiley is registrar, had nine deaths and twenty-three births.

Guilford had eleven deaths and sixteen births, according to the records of Dr. J. A. McClanahan.

Hopkins had just twice as many births as there were deaths, according to Registrar O. H. Sayler. There were eighteen of the former and thirty-six newcomers.

Dr. Eugene Crowson at Pickering reported ten deaths and twenty-four births at Pickering.

J. E. Jones, Quitman's registrar, reported eleven deaths and nineteen births.

At Ravenwood, there were thirteen deaths and eighteen births listed by S. P. Ross.

Skidmore had nineteen deaths and thirty-one births. Dr. J. C. Manning is registrar there.

Registrars of vital statistics are appointed in various parts of the county under the provisions of Section 6683 of Article 2 of Chapter 53 of the Revised Statutes of 1919. They report to the State Board of Health but are paid by the county at the rate of 25 cents for each death, birth and negative report. The total cost for their service during the last year is $215.75.

There were six negative reports, where the child was born dead. Two were at Graham, one at Elmo, one at Guilford, one at Quitman and one at Ravenwood.

Miller No Candidate, His Friends Assert

St. Louis, Feb. 10.—Political friends of Mayor Victor J. Miller said yesterday they understood the mayor would anncunce in his address Friday before the Missouri Republican Editorial Association at Springfield that he will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator this year.

MUST ACT ON FACTORY SOON

MARYVILLE ASKED TO SUBSCRIBE $20,000 STOCK.

OTHERS WANT PLANT

Sure-Grip Window Shade Co., Would Employ From Fifteen To Twenty-Five Persons, Yehle Says.

Twenty thousand dollars worth of stock must be subscribed within the next thirty days, if the Sure-Grip window shade factory is to be located in Maryville, Eugene Yehle, president of the organization and inventor of the shade attachment, said this morning.

A considerable amount of stock was subscribed yesterday and solicitors generally are meeting with success, Mr. Yehle added.

If the stock is not subscribed within thirty days, the factory will be taken to some other place. A number of towns in Missouri and elsewhere have already asked for the factory and have made good inducements. However, Mr. Yehle, as well as the others interested in the organization, would prefer to locate the factory in Maryville if at all possible.

Under the present plans, the factory would be started within the next six months and would furnish employment to twenty or twenty-five persons. With the exception of the salesmen, all local labor would be employed. The force would be increased as soon as business justified and eventually the factory would furnish employment to a large number of persons here.

Orders for the Sure-Grip window shades are being received daily, Mr. Yehle said, and the product has given general satisfaction wherever used.

In its expansion program, the organization intends to locate branches in St. Louis and some city in the South where a large number of shades have been sold. These, however, would be under the control and direction of the Maryville factory, Mr. Yehle said.

None of the judges of the Nodaway County Court are attending the meeting.

OIL DRILLING STARTS SOON

RIG MAY BE PLACED NEAR QUITMAN BY MARCH 1

BOARD RECEIVES BIDS

Breckenridge Man Submits Proposal at Meeting Last Night—Incorporation Being Perfected

Drilling for oil near Quitman probably will be begun in less than a month, it was stated today by Howard Manning, Skidmore geologist, following a meeting last night of the board of directors of the recently organized Quitman Oil Co.

G. H. Rose, an oil driller who sank two wells at Breckenridge, Mo., met with the board last night and submitted a proposal which was favorably received. The directors took no action, however, as they had agreed to wait for terms from an Oklahoma man.

According to Manning, who was in Maryville today, one of the two wells drilled at Breckenridge brought oil, but in going deeper for larger quantities the drill opened a vein of water and the oil was lost. A fund for a third well there is half raised, Manning said. Rose also drilled two wells near Grant City but no oil was found.

According to the geologist, the Quitman formation is one the same anticline as that at Breckenridge. The place tentatively selected for the drilling of the first well in this county is about half way between Skidmore and Quitman and about three-fourths mile east of the road between the two. Definite announcement is being withheld because it may be necessary to make a change, Manning stated.

All the desired leases in the Quitman-Skidmore vicinity have been signed except three, it was announced. The company has raised a fund of $10,000 and incorporation will be completed soon.

Rose told the directors last night that he could have his rig on the ground by March 1 and would be ready to start operations at once.

One of the early bids for drilling was 4½ cents for drilling through the Pennsylvanian formation and 5½ cents through the Mississippian. Rose's bid was said to be more favorable. The officials of the Quitman company expect to drill 1,500 feet through the Pennsylvanian formation before reaching the Mississippian and then probably 300 feet more before getting oil.

Van Goslee of Skidmore is president of the company and Fred Wright of Maryville is seretary. The board of directors is composed of Frank Goslee, J. S. Carden, R. I. Bilby, William Phares and John McMahon.

Talk of oil activities also is said to be reviving at Barnard, where James O'Hara, a promoter, proposes to drill a well this spring.

Bond Funeral Held at Graham Tomorrow

Deceased Had Lived in Nodaway County All But Two Years Since 1865.

Funeral services for James H. Bond, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sarah C. Senate's Action May Hasten Strike's End

Rumors Current That Operators Are Willing To Accept President's Decision In Controversy.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The eyes of Congress and the coal-seeking Atlantic seaboard were upon the White House today where President Coolidge maintained silence over the Senate's request to act as a peacemaker in the anthracite coal strike.

While there was but slight prospect of the President intervening immediately, rumors reached the Senate today that its action might result in the miners and operators voluntarily submitting their differences to the White House for arbitration. The operators were reported as willing to accept the decision reached by the President.

STATE LEADS IN ROAD WORK

MISSOURI RAPIDLY PULLING ITSELF OUT OF MUD.

MOST ROUTES CHOSEN

About 830 Miles Completed Last Year, B. H. Piepmeier Tells County Engineers Association.

Kansas City, Feb. 10. — Missouri, which once dropped its head while tourists sneered at its mud-lugged roads, now is leading the nation in the extent of highways now under construction, B. H. Piepmeier, state highway engineer, told members of the county highway engineers association of Missouri meeting here today.

Mr. Piepmeier said approximately 830 miles of road were finished last year and 1,000 more miles will be completed this year.

Next year will mark the beginning of the second half of Missouri's highway program. The last of the bond issue will be sold next year and after 1927, the state road work will be on a pay-as-it-is-done basis.

Mr. Piepmeier pointed out that although little less than half of the program had been completed, the most difficult of the job is out of the way in that 90 per cent of the roads have been routed. He said that eventually every point of interest in the state would be reached easily by the use of highways already constructed.

"Already approximately 2,500 miles are finished," he said. "In addition, there are approximately 1,500 miles which have surface gravel on them for use any day in the year."

A third, who clung to the main boom, was washed overboard before his mates could reach him.

BORAH PLEADS FOR RETENTION

TAXES INCREASED THREE-FOLD IN DECADE, HE SAYS.

FINAL DRIVE LAUNCHED

Hope for Vote By Tonight.—Would Send Bill Immediately To Conference.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Citizens are now paying about seven billion dollars a year in national, state and municipal taxes, three times what they did ten years ago, Senator Borah, Idaho Republican, told the Senate today in an appeal for retention of the inheritance tax.

In the first 124 years of the Republic, he said, people paid only twenty-six billion dollars in taxes and in the last ten years they have paid sixty billion dollars.

With this increasing burden, there is no justification for the elimination of the inheritance tax, Borah said.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The Democratic-administration coalition launched a final drive today for the enactment of the 325-million-dollar tax reduction bill.

With but one major issue in controversy, the proposed repeal of the inheritance taxes, and a score of minor amendments to be disposed of, the coalition leaders hope for a final vote before the Senate adjourns tonight.

This program would send the bill immediately into conference. With ten days devoted to conferences, the bill would be ready for enactment into law the last week of February, in ample time to apply to the income tax returns due March 15.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

"PATRIOT'S' WEEK"

Gov. Smith of New York state has proclaimed a 10-day period to be known as "patriots' week" from February 12, Lincoln's birthday, to February 22, Washington's birthday. His purpose is to emphasize that 1926 is the sesquicentennial of the birth of the nation and of New York state.

"With the century and a half now ending," he says, "the people of the Empire State and the United States have been blessed with the advantages of free democratic institutions, educational opportunities, religious freedom and material prosperity such as few nations on earth have enjoyed."

He hopes that cities, villages and towns, churches, schools, clubs and societies will observe this period with appropriate exercises.

It is an idea that might well be taken up by other states, for its national significance, at least. We always do honor to Lincoln and Washington on their anniversaries, but in the past it has often been done with little reference to the periods and events through which they lived.

A new biography of Abraham Lincoln has recently been published. George Washington's diaries, covering a long period, are now available in book form. There have been other recent publications which present a cleaner, better balanced and more intelligent picture of the early history of this country. It would do a lot of people a great deal of good to devote their reading during that 10 day period to American history instead of the novels and magazines of the day.

Such a period of concentrated study would illuminate current political and industrial trends, too, and would help to a better understanding of our government's development and possibilities.

VIOLINS FOR FIREMEN.

Music may put out flame. This is nothing new to scientists. Extinguishing a small gas flame in a glass tube with a musical tone adjusted to the flame has long been a familiar experiment in physical laboratories. But it certainly did amaze the fire-fighters in a New York engine house the other day when a volunteer scientist from California put out a gas flame two feet high by running a sort of violin bow across an aluminum tuning fork.

Fires in the future, says this scientific flame-fighter, will be put out by his method. Firemen will douse conflagration with mere sound waves, and do it without leaving the fire headquarters.

There may be great potentialities in sound. We have all read in the Bible how the walls of fortified cities fell down when the Israelites blew their horns. Edison declared a few years ago that he could shatter a skyscraper by attaching a little electric buzzer to the wall, suiting its rate of vibration to that of the building. Shall we use sound to raze old buildings as well as extinguish fires? Ask the radio what the possibilities are in sound waves.

A lot of good memory systems have been invented but none of them will work perfectly when a defense witness is on the stand.

General Pershing has had to have dental work done since he gave up his work in South America. Too much gnashing of the teeth at Tacna-Arica it seems.

Some people want to stamp out bootlegging and some want to deport the alien bootlegger and protect home industry.

It is said there is "enough anthracite coal in this country to last a hundred years." At the present rate of production and consumption it ought to last a thousand.

Speeding Trolley Cars Are Illegal

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 10.—(United Press)—Speeding street cars are also illegal, two motormen of this city have learned.

Leo Fisch and Leather Casten, pilots of two tram cars, were arrested by motorcycle patrolmen who charged them with driving their trolleys at 35 miles an hour. The motorcycle patrolmen announced the traffic law was 25 miles an hour.

Fisch and Ostron said they had no idea how fast their cars were going and were met with the reply:

"Put speedometers on them."

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 10.—(United Press)—The Charleston marathan dance record of the world was nearly doubled by Houston Oliden, who stopped shaking his feet at 3:30 a. m., yesterday after 52 hours and 52 minutes. The previous record was 26 hours. That record was shattered by Miss Thelma Harris, who danced 26 hours and 32 minutes.

Audrain County Hires Public Health Nurse

Mexico, Mo., Feb. 10.—Audrian County is to have the advantages of a public health nurse, as a result of a recent get-together meeting between state and county officials.

The plan calls for retention of a public health nurse and half of the salary and expenses will be paid by the state. The county will provide the other one half.

Already Mrs. S. E. Kimpton, who has been visiting nurse, has been named by the state board as county nurse.

What Other Editors Say

MOTOR SWEEPER SAVES $425 PER MONTH.

"In less than eight months the new motor street sweeper, purchased this year by the city (of Cape Girardeau) has shown in its short service that sufficient saving will be made in its operation over the old methods to pay for the machine in two years time, and this does not take into account the facts that the streets are cleaner and are gone over oftener.

The machine is costing approximately $127 a month to operate. Under the old methods $600 was paid out each month to men sweepers and for the upkeep of an antiquated horsedriven broom sweeper which never proved satisfactory. Thus a saving of $425 a month is being effected and deducting winter months, when street cleaning is unnecessary, the city is saving approximately $4,000 annually by the purchase of this machine.

George Batchellor, operator of the sweeper reports that for the period beginning May 15, when the machine was placed in operation here, and ending December 1, that 329 loads of debris were handled. The machine handles about two cubic yards to the load making 658 yards of dirt removed from the streets.

"The machine was driven 2129 miles and 1020 gallons of gasoline were used. a total of 62,000 gallons of water were used in sprinkling the street in front of the broom the report shows.

"During the heavy sweeping of June, July and August and September more than 50 loads of dirt were removed each month. November also proved a heavy month as 53 loads were removed, but October was light there being only 33 loads taken off."—Cape Girardeau Southeast Missourian.

East Didn't Have Big Land Boom Like West

Hence, Farming In That Section Is Far More Stable, Says Pennsylvania Agriculturist.

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer

Washington — Congressman Charles J. Esterly of Pennsylvania—he aims to be his state's next lieutenant governor, by the way—is full of sympathy for the American farmer, in his present troubles.

Why wouldn't he be? He's a farmer.

However, there are farmers and farmers. Most of the agricultural lamentation we hear just now comes from the west; some of it from the south. Esterly is of the east—not the far east, like New England, but pretty eastern.

Hence you get from him quite a different line of talk from the variety emanating in the corn belt.

Good for Esterly, for being original.

Eastern agriculture isn't suffering to any such extent as western. Esterly himself appears rather more than moderately prosperous.

What's the reason?

"The reason," explains Esterly, "is that the west had a land boom and the east didn't.

So now, here in the east, we're not so badly off.

"But the westerner who paid for his farm a good deal more than it was worth and then mortgaged it on that basis, naturally can't get enough for his crops to keep up with his payments, since deflation's set in."

Well, what's the remedy?

"The remedy for insolvency," said Esterly promptly, "is to start over again."

CONFEDERATE DRIVE BEGINS

MISSOURI'S QUOTA STONE MOUNTAIN MEMORIAL IS $100,000.

"THE EIGHTH WONDER"

Five Missouri Leaders in the Lost Cause To Be Included In Sculpture.—Memorial Coins Minted.

Sedalia, Mo., Feb. 10.—The state-wide campaign to raise Missouri's quota of $100,000 to the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial, which is now being sculptured in the north side of Stone Mountain near Atlanta, Ga., will be launched March 1 and continue through March 10, according to an announcement made public here by Mrs. Frank S. Leach, state director in the campaign. The funds are to be raised through the voluntary sales of Confederate Memorial coins.

Money derived from the campaign will be used to sculpture in a panorama the five figures of Missouri's outstanding Confederate Generals and Statesmen, who took most active part in the lost cause of the South during the Civil War. Four men have been selected, the fifth member, probably an historic statesman, to be chosen later. The four named are: Maj.-Gen. Sterling Price of Keytesville; Brig.-Gen. Joseph O. Shelby of Waverly; Maj.-Gen. John S. Marmaduke of Saline County, and Brig.-Gen. Francis Martin Cockrell of Warrensburg.

The campaign of raising the funds will be conducted by sales forces in the various cities and communities of the state, Mrs. Leach said, the organization of which is now being made through the central office here. The coins will sell at one dollar each and may be kept by the buyer as a souvenir or used as legal tender to the amount of fifty cents each. They are of a special memorial mintage and in half-dollar denominations. Missouri's allotment is 200,000 coins.

Stone Mountain, the largest exposed granite rock mountain in the world, is located about twenty miles northeast of Atlanta, and is near the geographical center of what was the Southern Confederacy. The north side of the mountain drops almost straight down for more than 900 feet and it is upon this exposed face of solid granite rock that the monument is being sculptured. When finished it will repose as the Eighth Wonder of the World.

Missouri's part of the monument will be sculptured in a panorama, which has as the central group the gigantic statues of President Jefferson Davis, General Robert E. Lee, General "Stonewall" Jackson, and a group of colorbearers. Memorial Hall, which is being cut out of the rock just beneath the panorama, is to be a monument to the daughters of the Southern Confederacy. Efforts are now being made by the state committee to include Missouri in the memorial sculpturing on an equal basis with the thirteen states of the south, Mrs. Leach said.

Coins used in the campaign will be in the hands of federal banks of the state for distribution to salesmen throughout the drive. There will be some fifty or more sales forces in the field during the first ten days of March. The quota for each city and community has been fixed by the national organization, based on the bank deposits for that place.

New York, Feb. 10.—A revision of the rules of auction bridge toward simplified scoring was announced yesterday, following a conference of experts last Saturday. Milton C. LAUNCH DRIVE AGAINST COURT

NATION-WIDE CAMPAIGN PLANNED FOR SOON.

OUT ON RESERVATION

Both Missouri Senators Said To Have Attended Irreconcilable Meeting Today.

Washington, Feb. 10.—A nation-wide campaign for America's withdrawal from the world court, even before American adherence become a fact, is to be launched in the near future by the Senate batallion of irreconcilables.

The irreconcilables are perfecting a permanent anti-world court bloc in the Senate and a national organization, devoted to keeping the United States out of "foreign entanglements." The first goal would be to withdraw the United States under a reservation which provides for America's withdrawal through majority action of the two houses of Congress. This reservation can be invoked at any time.

A meeting today in the office of Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, was said to include Williams, Republican of Missouri, and Reed, Democrat of Missouri, as well as others. Senator Watson, Republican of Indiana, was the only irreconcilable not present.

Senator Reed, although declining to discuss the conference, did announce that a national organization would be formed.

Parents Here Use Radio to Locate Missing Children

Radio broadcasting to locate a missing son and daughter was tried recently by Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Stamper and Mrs. M. E. Farrar, of this city, with successful results.

On December 30, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Farrar, the former a son of Mrs. M. E. Farrar and his wife the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Stamper, started from Casper, Wyo., on a motor trip to Miami, Fla. They were accompanied by their son, Stewart, 13.

Each day the tourists wrote to their relatives here, telling them of the day's progress and where the next letter from home would reach them. On January 11 they wrote from Selma, Ala., saying they had encountered mud but expected to reach Miami in four days. Then the parents here heard no more.

When their letters brought no reply, they tried registered mail and then a telegram, which was returned, undelivered. Convinced that the party had met foul play, Mr. Stamper arranged with a Miami radio station to broadcast the news of their disappearance and the description of the car. He got results.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrar did not hear the radio appeal, but friends did. They had reached Miami in two, instead of four, days, and an unusual congestion of mail in the Miami postoffice had prevented delivery of letters. Mr. Farrar sent a telegram to Maryville immediately, announcing that he and his family were "safe and well." Regular mail communication since has been established.

Mr. Farrar, a plumber, writes that he receives $18 a day for week-day work in Miami and $32 when he works on Sunday. He rents a plot of ground for $3 a week and has erected a small shack to live in, but finds living costs otherwise but little higher than in Wyoming. Nevertheless he detests Florida and announces that he will be glad when he can "get away."

COUNTY LEADS IN LIVE STOCK

NODAWAY EXCEEDS ALL OTHERS, REPORT SHOWS

THREE FIRST PLACES

Record Number of Horses, "Other" Cattle, and Hogs Found on Farms Here

Leading all others in number of horses, other than dairy cattle, and hogs; standing fourth in number of milk cows, eleventh in number of sheep, and twenty-third in number of mules, Nodaway County is the banner livestock county in the state of Missouri, according to a statistical report released today by E. A. Logan of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics and Jewell Mayes of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture.

There is no other county in Missouri which leads in numbers of more than one kind of livestock. New Madrid County led all others in number of mules at the beginning of this year, Green County led in numbers of milk cows, Schuyler County led in number of sheep.

Missouri farmers at the beginning of 1926, have on hand 8,135,000 head of livestock, valued at $205,005,280, compared to 8,428,000 head totaling $186,980,600 last year, showing decreases in numbers in all classes excepting sheep with heaviest loss in hogs. Values are generally higher, with hogs showing greatest increase.

Missouri horses number 675,000, compared to 714,000 last year, with a value of $48 per head against $48 in January, 1925, totaling $32,400,000 compared to $34,272,000 in January, 1926. Demand for horses during past year has been slow and draggy, very few colts raised and most horses aged. Decline in horses has been continuous since 1910, when 3.2 horses were on each 100 farm acres, and in 1926 down to 2.2. The five leading counties in horses (in order) are Nodaway, Bates, Pettis, Harrison and Chariton.

Missouri mules on farms are 382,000 against 390,000 in January, 1925, valued at $71 per head against $67, with total of $27,122,000 against $26,130,000, January, 1925. Number of mules has been slowly increasing since 1910, with number per 100 farm acres 1.0 head, and 1.2 in 1926. Heavy increases in cotton counties. Farm demands have been slow during past season, and feeding mules was not profitable last fall. The five leading mule counties are New Madrid, Stoddard, Mississippi, Dunklin and Cape Girardeau.

Milk cows total 827,000 against 835,000 last year, valued at $47 per head compared to $44, totaling $38,869,000 compared to $36,740,000 in January, 1925. Increases are general in southwest counties, but movement towards dairying in northern counties shows decline from a few years ago. The five leading counties in milk cows are Greene, Johnson, Cass, Nodaway and Webster.

"Other cattle" number 1,542,000 head compared to 1,607,000 head last year. Value per head is $30.75 against $27.60 totaling $47,409,980 against $44,334,400 last year. Stock cattle show decreases in Central and South Central Missouri. Fewer stockers and feeders were brought from public yards more than one year ago, but more cattle were shipped direct from range than formerly. Outside of northwest counties, all sections are carrying fewer cattle per 100 acres than 5 years ago, and tendency is to buy feeders rather than raise them. Cattle are wintering well, and no scarcity of feed is evident. The five leading cattle counties are Nodaway, Sullivan, Saline, Atchison and Carroll.

Sheep on Missouri farms total 1,038,000 head against 1,018,000 last year, valued at $10 per head against $9.40, totaling $10,380,000 compared to $9,569,200 last year. Breeding stock has increased, while lamb feeding was much less than last year. Only 75 per cent as many lambs and sheep were brought in from stockyards as one year ago. Sheep on farms have shown decreases each year, 1920 to 1924, according to the assessors, although 1925 early returns indicated increase. The five leading sheep counties are Schuyler, Monroe, Gentry Carroll and Harrison.

Missouri hogs total 3,671,000 against 3,864,000 valued at $13.30 per head, against $9.30 totaling $48,824,300 against $35,935,000 in January, 1926. Fewer hogs were fed on farms this past season than for several years. Brood sows show increase, and recent pig survey indicate 10 per cent increase in 1926 pig crop over spring of 1925. Bad weather in fall caused some losses of pigs. Brood sows are scarce in southern half of Missouri. Assessments show sharp decreases from recent years, and number on farms January 1st is less than a year ago. Hogs going to market are heavierthan last year. The five leading hog counties are Nodaway, Saline, Atchison, Lafayette and Andrew.

Growing wheat totals 1,261,000 acres, smallest in 27 years, being only 72 per cent of one year ago. Wheat made little growth and provides no pasture this winter. Heavy fall rains prevented fall plowing, and delayed corn gathering with some corn still out in shock and on stalks. Cotton picking ran late into winter season. Farm work consists in feeding stock and planning for spring planting. Very few farms are selling. Demand for farm labor is at lowest point of year. Wages have shown slight advance during past year.

Economy Program Observed Even in Taking Exercise

Washington, Feb. 10. — (United Press)—Although he takes little or no exercise President Coolidge is actually growing fat under the present barrage of grave problems.

His recreation has become more and more limited. It now consists of an occasional stroll around the White House district or a ride on his electric charger. He has given up his morning walks, his evening strolls now take place about once a week and he has not ridden a genuine horse in two years.

It is extremely seldom that the president leaves the White House in the evenings. He has attended one theatrical performance this year and he never attends concerts. He has dined out less than a half dozen times since his retura from Swampscott.

While President Wilson attended a vaudeville theater regularly every week and motored considerably, and President Harding played golf almost daily and visited friends in the evening, Mr. Coolidge stays shut up in his executive offices or his chambers.

But he sleeps more than any other president. He retires promptly at 10 o'clock and arises at 7 o'clock. These hours are strictly observed.

The YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murreded in a cheap hotel in GRAFTON. The only clews are a woman's handkerchief and a yellow ticket stub from a theater in Springfield.

JIMMY RAND, Henry's son, goes to Springfield, where he and DETECTIVE MOONEY trace the ticket to a THOMAS FOGARTY, who says he gave it to a woman named OLGA MAYNARD. Police search for her.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL, and gets a job in her office. Later he accidentally encounters Olga Maynard. He meets her at night and confronts her with the evidence against her. She faints when he says she is suspected of murder. He is in the street holding her when he sees Mary Lowell and a man companion watching them.

The next day Jimmy learns Mary's companion was SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer. Mary refuses to speak to Jimmy and later in the day he is discharged. He gets a phone call from POLICE LIEUTENANT O'DAY to come down to headquarters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIII

"What's up?" Jimmy asked O'Day.

"Come down and see," O'Day hung up.

Jimmy went back to his telegram from Mooney. Olga Maynard, it said, had been in Grafton on the day of the murder—had intervied two cabaret owners about a job. Mooney thought it best to place a charge of murder against her when she was found and hold her in Grafton.

"Look here," growled O'Day when he arrived at the police station, "the next time you run across somebody we're looking for, you let us know."

"What do you mean?"

"We've found the Manyard woman. She says you were with her last night. Why didn't you tell us?"

"I was going to bring her down here tonight, Lieutenant. I give you my word. I wanted to talk to her alone and see what she was like. She didn't do it, Lieutenant."

"She didn't eh? Well, I'm not so sure. Come on upstairs. We'll need you when we talk to her."

Olga Maynard was white-faced without her rouge. Her eyes, shifting restlessly, wore a hunted look.

She flared at Jimmy when he came in with O'Day. "You told them!" she accused. "You said you were coming. You told them to get me."

"He did not," O'Day declared. "He just got a piece of my mind for not telling. We were looking for you sister, and we've got you."

He produced a telegram. "This is from Mooney," he said to Jimmy. He turned to the woman. "Here's proof that you were in Grafton the day Henry Rand was murdered. How about it?"

"I've never denied it. Sure I was there—looking for a job. Why should I lie? But I don't know a thing about the murder."

"You're lying!" O'Day shot back at her.

"I'm not. It's the truth—I swear it is. I went to the theater that night on Fogarty's ticket—I admit it. And the next night—Tuesday—I took the sleeper for Grafton. I got there in the morning and spent the day looking for work. I'm a cabaret singer and I've had some hard luck here. I tried to find a cabaret or theatrical job in Grafton."

"Mooney said you had interviewed a couple of cabaret proprietors," admitted O'Day, indicating the telegram. "All right, what did you do next?"

"That's all. I didn't get anywhere, so I took the train Wednesday night back to Springfield."

"You didn't stay all night in Grafton—didn't register at any hotel?" O'Day asked.

"No, I didn't go near any hotel."

"You're not tellin' the truth. You were in the Canfield Hotel while you were in Grafton. We know you were."

"All right, I say I wasn't. I never even saw the Canfield Hotel."

"Then how did that ticket stub get in the room? You admit you used the stub. You admit you were in Grafton the day of the murder. Yet you say you never saw the hotel—and the stub was found in the room with Rand."

"I can't explain it. Maybe somebody found the thing and planted it there to throw you off the track."

O'Day laughed scornfully. "You'll have to do better than that, sister. We're dealing in facts—not fairy stories. How do you account for this? Before you left for Grafton you were living in a cheap rooming house. You're out of a job and broke. You go to Grafton and come back to Springfield and move into a pretty nice apartment. Where did you get the money?"

"I didn't get any money. I got back here Thursday morning and started looking for work again. I took the first thing I could get—a clothing model's job. On the strength of that I rented an apartment. I don't like rooming houses."

"Do you think a jury would believe your story?" scoffed O'Day.

"I don't know. Do you believe I committed a murder?"

"It looks like it. Whether you did or not, you're coverin' somebody up. You know who did it. You were in the room when the murder was committed. I believe you even got Henry Rand into that room—didn't you?"

"No!" cried Jimmy, leaping from his chair. "I don't believe that, Lieutenant. She might be covering somebody up, but—"

"Sit down, Rand." O'Day waved him aside. "Didn't you?" he continued, turning to Olga Maynard.

"No, I didn't, I tell you," she said fiercely. "I never even heard of him."

"Listen, sister," said O'Day. "I've been trying to place you and it comes to me all of a sudden. Seems to me you were one of those who got a ride in the wagon the time we raided the Studio Club. How about it?"

She turned away from O'Day's steady look—bit her lip. "What of it?" she asked.

"Nothing—except it wasn't very nice company. Not for a lady."

She flushed hotly. "All right, maybe it wasn't. But you can't hang me for that."

"We can come pretty near hanging you for something else. Come, now, tell us who was with you in Grafton. Who was the guy H. A. Jones who registered for the room?"

"I wasn't with anybody in Grafton."

"All right, what's the jury going to say when we show 'em you were in Grafton the day of the murder and your theater ticket was found in the room?"

She smiled sarcastically. "They wouldn't convict me on circumstantial evidence, Lieutenant. Pretty thin evidence, at that."

O'Day studied her through half shut eyes. "That ain't all," he said softly. "That ain't all. You still say you didn't go near the Canfield Hotel?"

"I still say it."

"All right. Then how did this get in the room where the murder was committed?"

He produced the handkerchief and confronted her with it. "Come on, answer me." She was staring, white-faced, at the handkerchief, speechless with surprise.

"If—if I wanted to lie," she said slowly, "I'd say that wasn't my handkerchief. There's no initial or anything on it—"

"The perfume is the same as you've got on the one in your hand," O'Day cut in.

"Just the same, you couldn't prove it was mine, Lieutenant. This is a common enough brand of perfume, and so is the handkerchief. But I won't lie. It's my handkerchief. Do you mean to say they found it in the room—with—"

"They found it in the room with Henry Rand, yes. The handkerchief and the ticket stub. Now do you admit you were in the room?"

"I'm still telling you the truth, Lieutenant." She looked appealingly at Jimmy. "I'll swear I am, Mr. Rand. I'm telling the truth. No, I was not in that room. I don't know how the handkerchief got there. But I think I begin to see a thing or two now.

"Listen. Maybe I've been covering somebody up that I didn't intend to cover up. That handkerchief gives me an idea. Lieutenant, I lost that handkerchief Monday night. I had it when I left the Paragon Theater, but I didn't have it when I went home, and I didn't have it when I went to Grafton.

"Do you see this?" She held up her beaded bag. "When I went in the theater I put the ticket stub in here—with my handkerchief. Well, after the theater I went to a place to eat and dance. You know, Mr. Rand—the Madrid, where you saw me that other night.

"This might sound like a weak alibi to you, Lieutenant. You might think I'm lying, but I'll swear I'm not."

"Go ahead," said O'Day.

"I'm trying to think." She passed her hand uncertainly over her forehead. "I gave that bag to the man I was dancing with, to hold for me. He put it in his coat pocket, and afterward he gave it back.

"My handkerchief was still in the bag, and so was the ticket stub, I guess. I remember asking him for my handkerchief after one dance—it was warm. I told him it was in my bag. He opened the bag without taking it out of his pocket and brought out the handkerchief. I remember he said, 'What kind of a pickpocket do you think I'd make?' He did it real cleverly."

"All right—what did you do with the handkerchief then?" asked O'Day.

"The music started for another dance, and I gave it back to him. He just stuck it in his pocket—didn't put it back in the bag."

"You mean he kept it?" Jimmy asked.

"Let me finish. We quarreled and I went home and left him there. Before I left I asked him for my bag. My money was in it. He kidded me for a minute or two—tried to make me think he was going to keep it—but I threatened to call the manager.

"He gave me back the bag, and it was still unfastened where he had taken the handkerchief out. I'd forgotten about the handkerchief, but he must have kept it, not knowing he had it. The next day, as I told you, I missed it, but I didn't try to think what I had done with it. It was just a cheap handkerchief.

"I think that when he pulled my handkerchief out of the bag, he also pulled out the ticket stub, and they were both in his pocket when he gave the bag back."

"And you think he's the man who left the handkerchief and the stub in the Canfield Hotel?" asked O'Day.

"That's the only explanation I can think of."

"All right—who was the man?"

(To Be Continued)

"All right," said O'Day, "then how did this get ni the room where the murder was committed?"

Daughter of Slain Man Would Like to Spring Gallows Trap

Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 10.—(United Press)—Mrs. Moore Heriford, daughter of William Steele, Fortonville merchant killed by Alva Grimmett, would like to release the trap that sends Grimmett to his death.

"I am more than anxious to see Grimmett get the rope," she declared. "If I could do the work I would get so much more revenge.

"My children and I spend a lot of time looking at papa's picture, thinking of the good things he told us and of the many things he did for us. We feel and know that Grimmett took the best friend we had and there is no punishment on earth that fits that crime. One thing I have to be thankful for is that God has provided a hereafter for such people and he surely will get full punishment."

Grimmett will hang next Saturday unless Governor Len Small or the courts interfere.

Mrs. Heriford says she will witness the hanging and is looking forward to the event.

It is estimated this will bring 250,000 persons to the old dances.

Federal Emloyes Called Time Killers

Washington, Feb. 10.—Representative Davey, Ohio, Republican, says the federal payroll includes the "largest number of loafers, time-killers and buck-passers that I have ever seen brought together under one banner."

"We should get rid of 100,000 or more of the tax eating drones and eliminate senseless duplication of effort or alleged," he said in reply to proposals of the Ohio Federation of labor for improvement of federal employes' conditions.

Movie Fans See Show Forty Reels Long

Buenos Aires—"Big times for thin dimes" is the slogan of the movie houses in Buenos Aires. For forty centavos, the movie fan sees some forty reels, more or less, of a program ranging from cowboys and Indians to Sheiks and Butter and Egg men.

American films control the market, and American stars are as well known here as in the United States. News reels from "the States" are popular. Most of the houses show the local news reel, which always includes several close ups of want ads or notices in the Buenos Aires press, in which the authors, the printer, or the proof reader has made a laugh producing error.

The section system in vogue in the Argentine legitimate theater also holds forth in the movies. The movie sections last from two to three hours, and each section is made up of at least four full length pictures. In the cheaper houses, dividing reels by centavos, the movie patron pays about one centavo for each reel of his entertainment.

The more expensive houses give their audiences fewer reels for more money, but the releases are more up to date. Pictures are usually shown in Buenos Aires from two to three months after their premier presentations in New York or Hollywood.

A very successful picture which opened on Broadway last summer was brought to Buenos Aires shortly after the premier, and booked in one of the leading local houses for a six months run. The picture is presented in the last section, and the preceding sections, each containing two or three recent pictures are changed daily.

Sentiment Grows in Favor of Corn Sugar

Iowa and Illinois have officially declared for corn sugar, as a legal and desirable food element, as well as being a product helpful to corn prices while consuming the surplus of any year.

The sentiment of our two neigboring states is developing here in Missouri, where one large corn sugar and corn products plant is located. Corn sugar is coming more and more into the local markets of this state on its merits for special uses, without warring against beet and cane sugar.

Legislation is pending in both houses of Congress, relating to recognizing corn sugar as a member of the Sugar Family, which, if adopted, would be helpful to corn growers everywhere, and would influence value of acre yields of corn, wherever grown, so declares Secretary Jewell Mayes of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture.

Dr. C. W. Jacobs

Kansas City's Expert Specialist---Curable Cases Cured

Dr. Jacobs will be at the LINVILLE HOTEL, Maryville, Mo., on FRIDAY and SATURDAY, and UNTIL NOON SUNDAY, the 12th, 13th and 14th. NOT ONE CENT OF FEE UNTIL YOU ARE CURED. He charges for Medicines.

Blood test and complete analysis urine, including blood pressure FREE, together with a thorough physical examination. You must pay REAL Specialist and Chemist charge, $15.00. THIS UNUSUAL OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR ONLY A SHORT TIME, and we urge you to take advantage by it.

Dr. Jacobs successfully treats long standing, stubborn cases. SERUM medication is revolutioning the practice of medicine.

Dr. Jacobs does NOT treat TUBERCULOSIS. But treats CANCER in its EARLY STAGES ONLY with POTENT SERUMS only. No "fake" plasters.

Many chronic, lingering ailments heretofore considered incurable are yielding to serum treatment, which is painless, quick, safe and positive. The blood is the LIFE, ABSOLUTELY it builds every cell and fiber of the body. The cure of chronic affections is dependent upon CLEANSING, Purifying and enriching the BLOOD STREAM.

Inflamed mucous membrances, swellings, skin eruptions, aches, pains, twitchings, etc., ARE NATURE'S WARNINGS of TOXIC poisoning in the blood stream. The SUCCESSFUL physician HEALS THE PRIMARY CAUSE—The BLOOD ITSELF—whereas the average doctor prescribes pallative remedies for the symptoms ONLY, IGNORANT of the CAUSE, making an invalid or a "dope" fiend. Dr. Jacobs tells your ailments with questions and without CHARGE. He successfully treats nose, throat, bronchial, stomach, bowel, bladder, kidney, gall bladder, and allied internal inflammations. They yield to SERUM and scientific mouth medication, neuralgia, rheumatism, acidosis, swellings, high blood pressure, heart weakness, neuritis, asthma ARE ONLY SYMPTOMS. Doctor Jacobs CURES the CAUSE through DIRECT injections into the Blood STREAM, safely and painlessly, no illness, no detention from work. He says, "We all love CLEANLINESS, so give your BLOOD a MEDICATED bath (which KILLS the GERMS, without mercury or "dope." He uses only VEGETABLE SERUMS and MEDICINES. He taught hundreds to be doctors. A big Kansas City doctor said, "Dr. C. W. Jacobs is a MEDICAL WIZARD." Another said, "He is 100 years ahead of his day."

Dr. Jacobs does not treat tuberculosis. Dr. Jacobs has dozens of French and German and a few American Serums, NONE POISONOUS. He will be at the Linville Hotel in Maryville from FRIDAY A. M. until SUNDAY NOON. Consultation and examination FREE.

Here are a few quotations from a signed statement given Doctor Jacobs January 9, 1926, which statement was dictated to a typewriter in the office of the Linville Hotel, in Maryville, by a well known citizen, Mr. A. M. Collins of Arkoe, Mo.: "I have been an invalid 7 years. Often fell to the ground while standing. Was going BLIND. Had rheumatism, anemia, epilepsy; slept poorly on one side. If I laid on the other I was paralyzed. Doctors said I was incurable. Spleen diseased, terrible discharges of blood from rectum; agony from piles. After only two months treatment with French Serums and mouth vegetable remedies (though past 73 years of age), I am cured. Must get WEAKER GLASSES, the old ones are TOO STRONG. My skin is clear and pinkish and I have gained 18 pounds. Sleep on either side and think Doctor Jacobs (and so do my friends) has done a miracle in my case. His charge were SO reasonable."

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—The grain market was erratic and easily influenced on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Wheat led in a weaker close, registering fractional losses after fluctuating over a 3-cent range. Trade was fairly large under prevailing bear conditions. Coarse grains were under dominance of the major cereal and as a result, showed losses.

Aggressive pressure from belated wheat liquidators was based on disappointing cables and less cheerful developments in the domestic situation. A mid-day swell that rallied prices above the last close was responsible for unloading of extensive lines by tired holders. The final break set in with selling said to be for an eastern account. Foreign markets moved at inside figures all day. Cables admitted a general shortage exists but adds that the continent is inclined to await more definite information.

General realizing sent corn to lower levels. Resting orders rallied prices moderately following the opening dip.

Fairly liberal selling by commission interests and over-night longs dropped oats.

Provisions sold off all day. Buying was light in volume while packers offered liberal parcels.

WILL MEET TEACHERS COLLEGE FIVE TONIGHT.

STANDINGS ALTERED

If Indians Win, They Will Trade Places With Bearcats in M. I. A. A. Percentage.

The State Teachers College Bearcats will either advance a notch in the percentage column of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association or relinquish second place in the conference standing to Cape Girardeau as a result of the game to be played between these two teams at the College gymnasium tonight. If the Bearcats win, they will have a percentage of .750, while if they lose they will drop to .500 and Cape Girardeau will rise to .666.

The Cape squad, seven strong, arrived in Maryville last night from St. Louis. The game tonight will be the first of three which the visitors will play on the road this week.

Coach F. J. Courleux will start Kiehne and Hunter at forwards, Mahew at center, and Buckminster and Miller at guards. The other two men are Jenkins and Bauerle.

H. Frank Lawrence, Maryville coach, will start Hedges and Captain Aldrich at forwards, Berst at center, and Burks and Joy at guards. Blomfield, who has been injured, will likely be in the game before it is long gone, however.

John Bunn, former Kansas City Star, will referee.

The game will start at 8 o'clock.

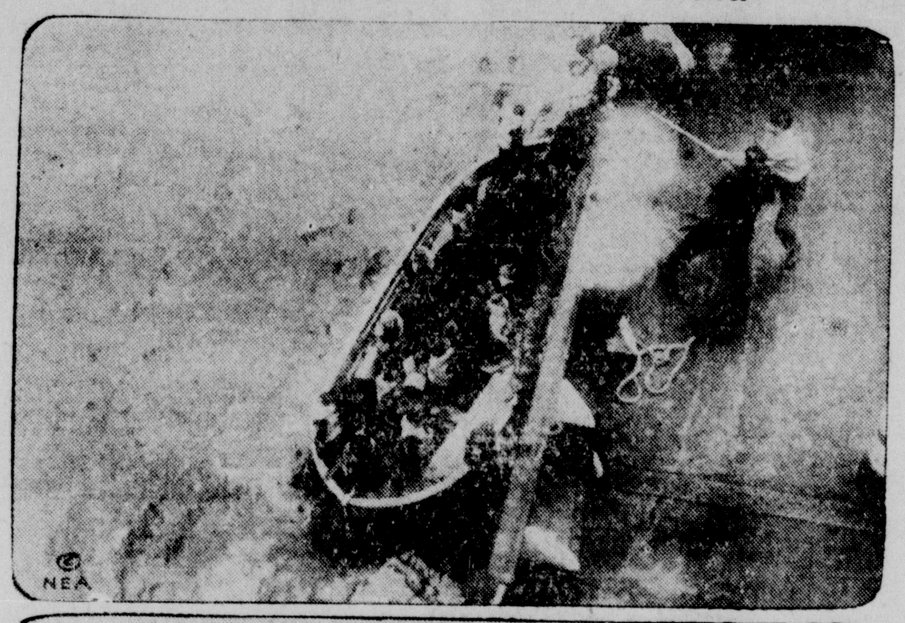
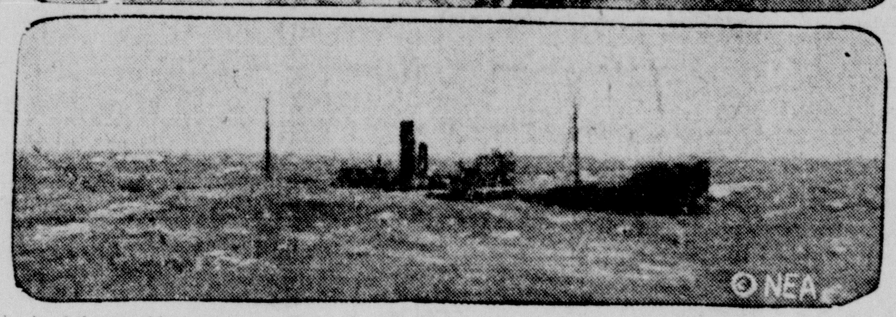
Unusual Photos of Rescue at Sea





An epic of the sea, this, in pictures. Made aboard the rescue ship Westphalia of the Hamburg-American line, the photographs tell the story of the heroic saving of 27 men from the disabled Dutch freighter Alkaid, tossed in the grip of a furious Atlantic storm. As they found safety, food and comfort aboard the Westphalia, the Alkaid crew saw their ship dive to its last home. Above, the sailors climbing to safety aboard the rescue ship. Below, Davy Jones' locker claims the hapless vesel.

SPORT COMMENT

The Shooting Stars gained undisputed lead in the intra-mural league race at the College by defeating the Dorm Team 25 to 14. The Shooting Stars now have four victories without any defeats to mar the record. The Dorm and E.K.Z. team are tied for second honors with three wins and one defeat each.

Eight teams are entered in the race and a silver cup is to be awarded by the Athletic Department to the winners. Three more games are scheduled for the eight teams.

Swimming and hand ball are two popular sports at the College gymnasium now. Every afternoon and night the hand ball court is occupied and some of the players are fast acquiring considerable skill in the game.
